Importance: High

Greetings Speaker of the House,

My name is KaTasha Sagers. I live in district #93 and I have been unsuccessful for 2 and half years in contacting my House Representative Ron Sailor. I have left messages with his secretary and emailed him to get no response. Before I moved out of my parents home, my family and I personally knew our house representative and were very involved in our community. We knew him so well, he nominated me for the Georgia Black Legislative Caucus Young Scholars Award, which I received in 2004. When I moved, those same values of being an well informed, civic minded voter stayed with me as I purchased my first home in December 2004. Since then, I have tried effortlessly in contacting Rep. Sailor, but he is "untouchable". I have called the secretaries of the committees he sits on to be told that he rarely attends those meetings and that he is known for being inaccessible and unavailable to his community. In the past two years, I have meet and worked with my Senator, Commissioners, and surrounding Representatives with the exception of my own. Holding our public officials accountable is one of the most important roles of a voter. As President of the League of Women Voters of DeKalb County and President of Snapfinger Manor Homeowner's Association, I understand what it means to serve those who elect you into office. I understand what professionalism, dedication, commitment, and loyalty is to your constituents. Ron Sailor has not displayed professionalism, dedication, commitment, and loyalty to his community in the 2 and a half years I have lived in his district. Not only does he need to be held accountable for his actions, but also removed from office. Please advise me on what steps need to be taken to make him accountable to district #93 and the state of Georgia.

Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

KaTasha Sagers
